Subject: Columbia Solar Project - Yes! (but not on farmland)

Hello Sonia,

I just read an article in the Seattle Times about the Columbia Solar Project.
I'm excited to hear we have a solar farm on the way.

I don't know much detail about the project, but the Times said that farm land may be used.
I wanted to express my strong opinion that we need to protect our farm land for food production. We will have more and more people flooding this area in the near future and we need to protect the food supply. I support development of the "solar farm" on non food growing land.
Thanks for helping with the project.

Best to you,
Linda
